Report cards for Portage, Schoolcraft and Vicksburg schools

Below is the state's 2011-12 report card for buildings in the Portage, Schoolcraft and Vicksburg school districts. The percentile column shows how each school ranks in comparison with other schools; for instance, a school in the 70th percentile ranks above 69 percent of school statewide. The next column indicates buildings designated as "reward schools" that serve as models and "focus schools" that have a large achievement gap. Also shown is whether each school achieved Adequate Yearly Progress under the federal No Child Left Behind Law, and the overall grade assigned to each school. Grades are based on state test scores and whether scores are improving or declining.

Statewide Impact?

- Region 3 increased from 1.6 – 5.9%
- Represents 915 more students in 3rd grade who are proficient in Region 3.
- IF statewide the red schools moved up to the line, the schools on the line moved up to the green:
 - High poverty schools: From 25% to 52% proficient
 - State Average: From 46% to 73% proficient
 - Low poverty schools: From 65% to 92% proficient
 - 27% statewide would mean over 30,000 more students proficient
